

BACHELORS CHRISTMAS BALL IS VERY BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Society Turns Out in Force to Annual Dance at the Arizona School of Music. Event Surpasses All Expectations

It was a brilliant ball that the bachelors gave last evening at the Arizona School of Music. The Christmas dance has been eagerly anticipated for many months and it amply surpassed the expectations of the most optimistic pleasure lover. The innovations on the dance program caused no little amusement, for in hold type appeared for the first time the magic words "rag" and "tango."

The auditorium presented a charming Christmas picture with its cheery decorations. Hundreds of strands of scarlet paper were festooned from the center of the room midway to the ceiling to an immense scarlet circle. From this were showered miniature bells and other sparkling holiday conceits. From above the festooning radiated was a huge bell of scarlet. The side lights were hung in bells and greenery. Gracious perfect bouquets were artistically arranged in the reception hall. The costumes worn last evening were unusually lovely.

Mrs. Maitland Davies was lovely in an exquisite gown of delicate pink with pinnies of net edged in fur.

Mrs. Herbert Burr Atia wore a becoming gown of pink satin edged in beaded net and ornamented in red buds.

Mrs. Roy S. Goodrich was greatly admired in coral chiffon elegantly trimmed with silver lace.

Mrs. Gordon Tweed was attractive in yellow chiffon.

Mrs. Sidney J. Boas was stunning in black satin veiled in tulle and trimmed in pearls and applique.

Mrs. William M. Seabury's handsome Paris gown was of black spangled net over black satin with a brilliant dash of color in coral velvet.

Mrs. Helen Martin Stoddard never looked better than in a black velvet costume.

Mrs. Sidney P. Osborn was charming in pink crepe meteor ornamented in rosebuds and lace.

Mrs. Herbert Atia Jr. made a pretty picture in blue satin and ermine.

Mrs. Clarence I. Stacy wore a smart frock of black satin with a bodice of silk shadow lace with a touch of color in tango satin.

Mrs. George H. Lutzgerding's effective costume was of primrose chiffon, trimmed in cream lace and brown fur.

Mrs. Fen Hildebreth's apricot satin gown was veiled in black chiffon and embroidered in beads and was most becoming.

Mrs. Frank Hildebrand was, as usual, charming. She wore blue satin and white lace.

Mrs. Hal Bennett was prettily attired in American Beauty chiffon.

Mrs. Joe Green was costumed in pink tulle. The tulle of lace was of "lamp shade" variety.

Mrs. Victor Hanny, who always dresses in rare good taste, was in apricot ermine de chene with silver bead embellishment.

Mrs. Robert Dunlap was beautifully gowned in black crepe de chene with fur and thimble trimmings.

Mrs. John H. Page, who is one of the most attractive young matrons in the smart set, was radiant in blue crepe de chene with an overdash of black net spangled in silver.

Mrs. Sidney Reddinghouse looked exceedingly smart in black broadcloth edged trimmed in gold embroidered black chiffon.

Mrs. Arthur Luhrs was in a dainty frock of pink chiffon. A corsage of violets gave a pretty touch of contrasting color.

Mrs. Royal Lescher's exquisite gown was of white satin with a tulle of ruffled ruffles and pearls. The bodice of lace and jewels was given a dash of color by a tango pompadour.

Mrs. Webb Griffin was beautiful in blue messaline veiled in pink chiffon and trimmed in fur and shadow lace.

Mrs. Neil Highten wore pink charmeuse with shadow lace and for it was a charming gown and becoming to Mrs. Creighton's distinctive type.

Mrs. C. H. Davidson was effectively costumed in white charmeuse veiled in black lace.

Mrs. Robert Peabody wore a fetching frock of white crepe with beaded coral trim.

Mrs. Adella Wilson was greatly admired in pink chiffon and was one of the most popular girls at the dance.

Mrs. Margaret Bryan, of Annapolis, another social favorite, wore shell pink satin trimmed in lace and tulle.

Mrs. Emily Gavin was beautiful in yellow charmeuse with a touch of velvet in tones of blue.

Mrs. Abbie Pickrell wore a Paris gown of black charmeuse veiled in tulle and looked charming.

Mrs. Harriet Hurley in pink broad clothed charmeuse was most attractive. Miss Rena Dorris was gowned in a dainty French frock of pink charmeuse and shadow lace.

Mrs. Ruth Ainsworth wore blue messaline and chiffon that was particularly becoming.

Mrs. Eleanor Sloan was prettily costumed in blue silk crepe with a lace drape.

Mrs. Stella Sears was in a frock most becoming to her shiny blonde type. She wore blue crepe meteor trimmed in brown tulle and brown fur.

Mrs. Pearl Stauffer wore a delicate blue with a beaded tulle. A crushed strawberry satin girdle added to the effectiveness of the charming gown.

Mrs. Kathryn Kennan was handsome in Dresden chiffon over white satin. The girdle was of green and the frock was trimmed in chiffon tulle.

Mrs. Mabel Hocker looked exceptionally well in Dresden chiffon over pink satin.

The Bachelor hosts were William Fekas, president of the organization; Fred Humphrey, secretary; Stephen Jennings, treasurer; and Paul Rogers, Ingles, Arthur J. Holton and Fred M. Holmquist, of the board of governors, and the club members, Power, Conway, Ernest E. Anderson, Alexander Baker, Robert O. Beardsley, Lester Byron, Morris R. FIFTH GENERATION OF THE BREWER FAMILY

Mayme Evelyn Brewer Arrives Completing Long Family Line.

With the arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brewer yesterday forenoon of a hale and hearty nine pound baby girl who was named and remained before evening, the fifth living generation of the Brewer family was inaugurated. It was a most auspicious occasion in the Richard Brewer family for besides starting a new generation it was the first occasion when Brewer began to realize the responsibilities resting upon a father.

Just about one year ago Brewer, who then was and still is one of the best stenographers that ever worked for The Republican, asked Miss Mayme Ponder to become his wife. Miss Ponder was willing and before either her family or Brewer's fellow employees knew what was transpiring the knot had been tied. And then Dick settled down to become the ideal husband. In the year that has about intervened he has succeeded in more ways than one.

It is not likely that there are many other families in Arizona that can point out five living generations. The little woman who arrived yesterday can some day inform the general public that she once had a great-great-grandmother. Over in Morenci lives Mrs. Caroline Aguirre, aged 109 years and probably the oldest woman in Arizona. She is Mayme Evelyn Brewer's great-great-grandmother. Mrs. Aguirre lives with her daughter, Mrs. Caroline A. Campbell, aged 68 years. Mrs. A. D. Brewer, a daughter of Mrs. Campbell, lives at Ray Arizona. Richard Brewer, a son of Mrs. A. D. Brewer is the fourth generation representative and the fifth is his daughter who arrived yesterday. Already Dick and Mrs. Dick are planning a trip to Morenci to see the baby and then there will be a reunion the like of which has seldom been seen in Arizona and is not often seen anywhere in the world.

Goodrich, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. George Lutzgerding, Mr. and Mrs. Henry George, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Page, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Hanny, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Homer King, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Cassidy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Luhrs, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wolf, Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hege, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stevenson, Mrs. R. E. Martin, Miss Ruth Ainsworth, Miss Ella Luhrs, Miss Margaret Bryan, Miss Rena Dorris, Miss Kathryn Kennan, Miss Emily Gavin, Miss Harriet Hurley, Miss Margaret Torper, Miss Eleanor Sloan, Miss Mabel Fenn, Eugene D. Goldman, Jack Rowlands, J. O. Craig, Captain Arthur C. Taylor, Will Lewis, John Mullen, Jack Ainsworth and Peppi Ferrando.

FINANCES AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—From the opening to the close today's stock market exhibited decided strength, sustained advances in shares in all classes, railroad, industrial investment and speculative, impressed both bulls and bears. There was increased buying for both accounts. Not for weeks has the street seen a market which gave such striking evidence of inherent strength, and many representative stocks were marked up two to four points.

While there were many different opinions in Wall Street as to the ultimate effect of the changes to be made because of the currency bill, the trading element took the view that the passage of the bill will be distinctly bullish in its influence. Recent changes in the bill are construed as favorable.

An unofficial report from Washington that the interstate commerce commission is disposed to regard favorably the petition of eastern roads for higher freight rates, helped to strengthen the bullish stocks. The success of the Lehigh Valley bond offering was another influence in that direction.

Another favorable bank statement was indicated. Forecasts based on known movements of currency during the week suggested a gain of $7,000,000 or more in cash holdings.

Bonds shared the strength of the market in stocks. Wabash-Pittsburg certificates slumped five points to 100. Total sales represented par value of $2,650,000. United States two advanced one-quarter on call.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN ALDEN.
(New York Mail)
The papers record the death of Judge Henry Leroy Alden of Kansas, who was "a lineal descendant of John Alden" and in doing so is to be said of the descendants of Miles Standish. But of all the old descendants of John and Priscilla Alden are few. Fortunately this is not the case. They are many. Every little while the death of one of them is recorded. John Alden and his wife Priscilla had a large family and their descendants are numerous and have often been distinguished. The same is to be said of the descendants of Miles Standish. But of all the old descendants of John and Priscilla Alden are few. Fortunately this is not the case. They are many. Every
